U HAUL WENTZVILLE

Concrete played a vital role in the overall success of this project. Utilizing architectural form liners, the owner was able to significantly enhance their building's durability and aesthetic appeal. Originally, the project was designed with metal panel walls, however, the owner opted for concrete tilt-up panels to achieve a more refined architectural finish. The incorporation of decorative concrete elements added depth and character to the facade and demonstrated the versatility of concrete in construction. This project utilized 4,500 cubic yards of Concrete.
